Sorry to learn of Louy's passing. My parents first met Lou in Israel while married to a cousin of my mother's. When he first came to America my mom introduced me to Lou who could hardly speak a word of English. However he quickly learned the language and got a job at a shirt factory in Manhattan and an apartment on 49th Street. We became close friends and enjoyed hanging out together. Lou was a good guy, a hard worker and a trusted and respected friend. Anyone that came in contact with Lou liked him immediately. As the years went on we both got married and drifted apart but here and there managed to get together just to visit with each other. It has been a few years since I saw Lou and with the passing of time didn't realize he was 91 years old. I wish for Louy to Rest In Peace for eternity.my condolences to his family. George S. Kalman
