Alex, I don't believe in an afterlife as advertised, but what I do believe is that those you love live on inside of you and all others who loved them. In this way, their lives carry on through you and your children. Never really gone. I lost my mom 6 years ago and I still feel her presence, and when I do something she's be proud of, I feel her love, and when I do the opposite, I can feel her reproach! So, carry on and she goes with you ??.
