JILL STEWART NARROW

JUL 10, 2018

Jill Stewart Narrow of Emmaus, PA, and West Palm Beach, FL, passed away in Lehigh Valley Hospital on July 10. Jill turned 70 last month. She was beloved by her husband, Hank. They would have been married for 45 years in August. Jill was born in Easton. She was the daughter of Miriam (Friedman) and Frank Stewart. She was a 1966 graduate of Easton Area High School. She had been a member of Temple Covenant of the Peace, Easton. In 1970, she graduated from Cedar Crest College in Allentown where she earned a Bachelor of Arts with a dual major in English and Sociology. Jill was a professional in the fields of advertising, public relations, marketing, and sales for a variety of companies such as Merchants Bank of Allentown and New Jersey Zinc (a Gulf + Western Company). For most of her career, she was associated with Getting to Know You (GETKO Group) and Welcome Wagon where she was well-known in her territories which included the Lehigh Valley, Reading, Berks, and Montgomery Counties in PA. Upon her retirement four ½ years ago, she became a docent at the Allentown Art Museum. She had also conducted tours at the Society of the Four Arts, Palm Beach. Jill was also a free lance writer. She wrote articles for such magazines as Valley Monthly (Allentown), Berkshire Magazine, and Capital Region Living (Albany). She took great pleasure in art (especially Art Deco and Mid-Century Modern), travel, and music (ranging from classical to jazz). Her favorite place was Tanglewood in The Berkshires in Western Massachusetts. In addition to her Tanglewood membership, she was a member of other arts organizations including the Civic Theatre of Allentown; the Allentown Symphony Association; the Kravis Center, West Palm Beach; the Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival; and many others. Jill was an avid reader and was a member of the Book Babes. Professional memberships included IABC (International Association of Business Communicators), PR Club, and NAPS (National Association of Professional Saleswomen).

Andy Uscher Jill was my oldest friend. We played together as children and we always wanted the best for each other. I was very happy when Jill met Hank because she had found the lifetime partner that she always wanted. I will mourn her passing but I know that she had a good life and this will give me comfort.
