To the family of Norman Ross - I was a student of Norman Ross in my freshman year of High School in the 1950s. I just want you to know that he was a major influence in my life, teaching me to value myself as well as others. He made English fun and challenged all of us with creative assignments. He also shared some of his own troubles with his students and let us know that we all have challenges. He was very proud of his family and I know that this pride grew stronger throughout his life, as I made contact with him again a number of years ago and we exchanged some thoughts. All of you should be very proud to have had him in your family. He led a rich and valuable life.
