Josh was, at his core, a really nice guy and that's something that seems to be increasingly rare. We, at this point in human existence could use more, not fewer, individuals who are introspective and kind. – sorry

Josh was the most wonderful, sensitive, loving son a mom could want. He loved life and all the people he met. He will be missed with every breathe I take. I am so grateful to have had him in my life for 33 years. If anyone wants to make a contribution in his name, There was an error in the program.
