Adrienne was someone whom I knew from childhood. Her family moved down to Florida for a while, when I was very young, and when they moved back to New Haven she was assigned to the same junior high school as I attended & when I beheld her upon her return I was impressed by her unusual beauty & poise--and ultimately, her great intelligence! For the rest of our acquaintance--we never became "friends," but our families were connected--I admired her. We did reconnect a bit on FB ca 50 years later and it made me very happy to do so. Now, I am very, very sad to learn of her death.

If this is the Adrienne Deutsch who grew up in New Haven, Connecticut and whom I knew & admired & for whom I felt much affection, I am very, very sad!
