In Loving Memory of MARC TESLER 12/17/1945 – 10/19/2024

With heavy hearts, we announce the passing of our father, and beloved husband Marc Tesler, a visionary entrepreneur, beloved father, and friend to many. His life was a testament to ambition, generosity, and humor, leaving an enduring legacy that touched countless lives

As a venture capitalist, Marc played a role in launching companies that reshaped industries, including Starbucks, Staples, and Netflix. His uncanny ability to see potential where others couldn't, combined with a gift for turning complex challenges into straightforward solutions, defined his career. Yet, beyond his professional success, he was known for his kindness, patience, and willingness to mentor anyone who sought his counsel.

Friends and colleagues affectionately called him "the smartest guy in the room"—a title he embraced with humor, often remarking that he was simply selective about the rooms he entered. His guiding principles were straightforward but memorable, including his "no assholes policy" and the important, oft shared reminder, that if you ever really needed to clear a room, nothing would accomplish that goal faster than threatening to "drop trou". He was wise, generous, and always funny.

As a father, Marc was a source of calm and unwavering support. His children knew him as a patient listener, a wise advisor, and someone who made life's most complicated moments feel manageable. He was equally devoted to his role as a grandfather, cherishing every moment spent with his grandchildren, Leo, Zeke, Liem, Vinh, Grayden and his only granddaughter Magnolia. His commitment to her extended beyond family, as he served on the board of the Rett Syndrome Research Trust, advocating tirelessly for the cause and providing generous support to help find a cure.

Marc is a wonderful memory in my mind of growing up in the Shirley Ave area of Revere. He lived a few doors down from my grandmother and we were classmates beginning in the first grade. Marc was always that kind person you talk about in that beautiful tribute and he was the "smartest person in the room!" Stanley Forman

He is MISSING but will be MISSED! This giant of a man embodied true kindness and generosity and gave unwavering support to those who needed it. I was fortunate to be apart of his life for 15 months, but god knows it felt like 15 years. His personality, his charm, made others felt welcomed and cherished. Earth has lost an Angel- a loss that we would have to cope with, but I take comfort in knowing that though he will be MISSING, he will be MISSED.
