My name is Bob Atkins and I was on the Board of Directors of The Bermuda House when we started using David as our preferred plumbing contractor. In fact we gave his contact information to all of our Unit Owners so they would all use him as well. It quickly became apparent that David was good at what he did but beyond that he was friendly and everyone really liked him. I had an immediate connection with David as I had been part of a family owned plumbing business in NY earlier in my career and then held senior Management positions at Kohler and Grohe Faucets before my retirement. I knew a lot of the wholesalers in Florida and I used to get some hard-to-get Grohe parts for David when he needed them. I also contracted him for all of my personal plumbing needs when I did a complete remodel and a water heater, etc. David never disappointed and was always there when needed. David's passing came as a real shock to me when I heard about it. He was a very special person...always there to help and always with a smile on his face. I considered David a friend and we had many discussions about how hard the plumbing business is and I'm really going to miss him. My thoughts and prayers go out to Wendy and Ryan during this difficult time. Sincerely, Bob Atkins very saddened to learn of David's passing. We relied on him for our plumbing issues for the last 15 years and he was extremely reliable, professional and always courteous. We inevitably talked about rugby, his Springboks and my Welsh team. Lovely man and he will be sadly missed. Richard Martin

The word Mensch gets bandied around a lot and it's true essence often missed. David was the true essence of what a Mensch is. He was a lion on the outside he was incredibly physically strong but on the inside he was honestly as soft as soft serve ice cream. Without him I could never have come to the US he signed for everything he even gave me a job in an industry I knew nothing about. To David what was most important were his son Ryan and his wife Wendy, but he always had time for me and his mom and the rest of his family. He had an incredibly dry sense of humour and we used to laugh together all the time. I will miss him terribly and have little doubt he is looking down on his family and will guide his son and wife till the day they join him. Goodbye Doug I love you. His step brother Shaun Rimer
