“ It wasn't easy saying goodbye that one last time and as I start each new day that inherent pain of losing you never goes away. I try my best, going about the things I need to do, and as the hour's pass, my thoughts always turn to you.

Some day I know all will be well, and I'll see you again with stories to tell. Until then, my memories of you I will keep near, and I promise to pass them on to those who are dear.

Mom fulfilled her prophesy, spreading love, laughter, and hope, and yet she instilled in those that were left behind the ability to understand and cope.

I think of you now and not the endless battle with pain and ill health, of frailty and anguish to no end. No, today I remember your warm touch, and no man could ever have asked for a better friend.

Love and miss you mom.

Your loving son,
Art
